JOHNNY J. JONES CARNIVAL OPENS

Big Crowd Attends First Night's Performance

HIGH CLASS SHOWS

"Fit For The Entire Family" is The Slogan and Company Lives up to This Standard

The potent factor responsible for Johnny J. Jones Exposition securing the contract from the local lodge of Elks to furnish the amusement portion of the spring festival cited by the directors in three prominent characteristics, always dominant in the make-up of this organization, namely, cleanliness, square-dealing and quality, and every person whoever attends any function wherein Johnny J. Jones name is attached readily becomes cognizant of the reasons for the phenominal success of the stupendous enterprise.

Ed. R. Salter, the Jones publicity man's reports coming from Orlando, Florida, the winter quarters of the Jones aggregation, easily persuaded one to believe that the patrons of the Elks Benefit Fund would this year be regaled with a list of attractions far ahead of the excellent programs offared in the past seasons and our visit to the exposition grounds last night proved that Mr. Salter was a truthful press agent. Some of the leading features include:

Johnny J. Jones trained wild animal exhibition which in itself is equal in both size and entertainment to the average circus, exhibiting Admiral Dewey with twelve Nubian lions, one of which rides horseback around the ring of the arena under direction of Princess Dixie, while Lieut. Houston performs with leopards and pumas, Captain Harry Mooney has a herd of elephants in a series of stunts. M'lle. Bootzie Herd amuses with many ponies.

Johnny J. Jones famous midgets, Prince Dennison, Princess Marguerite, Baroness Leona, and Duchess Salona, remain as great a drawing cards.

Maybelle Mack's high school mules—Imagine a mule, accredited as being the most stubborn of the animal creation being trained to do all sorts of acts only expected when performed by quadrupeds reputed to have extraordinary intelligence. Under the direction of handsome and vivacious Miss Mack these mules appear absolutely classical in its environment.

Miss Etta Louise Blake has a spectacular production properly titled "Superba." It introduces pretty southern misses in tableaux de art posings, as the original models in paintings, not of the tawdy "living pictures" type.

"Everything", is the unique title given to the attraction presided over by Mr. Harrison Jansen, the foremost transformist of the day. In this wonderful maze of Egyptian mystery you look and you see things that you feel and know are impossible and still you realize that it is all true as far as eyes can give a clue to truth.

"Stella" was the leading feature at the San Francisco Exposition, as well as at St. Louis, and made a most pronounced hit with Johnny J. Jones Exposition over the Canadian Circuit last season. Stella is a work of art quite beyond the bane of human description.

"The pacemakers." William J. Coughlan has engaged M'lle Marie, late vivandiere with the Chasseure d' Afrique and heroine of fashoda as his feature attraction in auto motor cycle stadium. Nothing so sensational as her performance has ever been seen here. She actually courts death in her defying the laws of gravitation in her speed limit, riding an automobile on an almost perpendicular wall. Others engaged in Mr. Coughlan's stadium include five of the most famous motor-cycle riding experts of the country.

"The Hell Ship" is as ponderous looking as a dreadnought. It is a new attraction designed and operated by Mr. Robert McPherson, not as model, but a practically working craft of the deep sea and when once aboard you'll

At a meeting of the Sunday School board of Trinity M. E. Church held last night these officers were elected: Charles E. Pierpoint, superintendent; D. B. Arnold, assistant superintendent; H. L. Ramey, secretary; J. F. Dyson, treasurer; Julian Upton, librarian; Miss Anna Astryke, superintendent of primary department; Miss Inez Pierpoint, pianist; William N. Cradlin, assistant pianist; Miss Beatrice Norcross, president of the missionary society; Miss Lillian Cradlin, secretary-treasurer of the mission society; Miss Maggie Knight, president of the temperance society; Miss Margaret Smith, secretary of the temperance society.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

A jitney driver was fined ten dollars and costs by Justice Troth yesterday for speeding on the Camp Humphrey road. Complaints against speeders on this road are numerous not only in Fairfax county, but in every place contiguous thereto, as it has become dangerous for law-abiding persons to operate automobiles on this new road constructed by the government some time ago. Some autoists run their cars in the centre of the road, often crowding other vehicles into dangerous positions on embankments. Besides there are sharp turns in the road at which places it is impossible to see but a few yards ahead and where caution should be observed.

The authorities of Fairfax county are endeavoring to bring about safe and sane conditions on this thorough fare, one of the best in the state. Alexandria city has jurisdiction one mile south of the centre of Hunting Creek, and persons violating the law by excessive speeding or recklessness within that area will have their cases heard in the Police Court of this city.

THE VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA OPEN MISSION HERE

The Volunteers of America will open a mission hall in this city next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The officers in charge of the local work will be Captain E. S. Dawson who will make his permanent home in this city. The Volunteers of America were founded by General Ballington Booth twenty-four years ago, and have succeeded in building up a great organization in all sections of the country that is carried on under American principles. The organization also believes in putting into practice the principles of the Master, who went about doing good, so that this local post of Volunteers can be depended upon to relieve human needs as we find them to exist. Captain E. S. Dawson states that the Mission hall will be located at 113 South Fairfax street and that all meetings of this society are open to the public, and that funds collected by them will be used in the local work.

BURGLARS NEGROES

Police Notified of Three Robberies Last Night in Recently Annexed District.

The pad in the station house this morning contained notifications of two robberies of residences in Rosemont last night.

Oliver Kirby, living at 52 East Maple street, had money and sundry articles taken from his home last night. The intruder in this case is known to have been a negro.

J. M. Parker, residing at 48 East Maple street, reported that a negro entered his home last night and secured $150 and a pair of pantaloons.

D. L. Norfolk, living at 433 Peyton street, reported that a sneak thief, believed to have been a negro, entered his home last night and stole $75.

George Semmes notified the police that a bicycle had been taken from his home, 806 Duke street, during the night.

Housekeepers should secure windows in their homes, as in the cases where burglars entered homes in Rosemont they did so through windows which had not been properly secured.

To Decide Tax Rate

Common Council at Meeting Tonigat Will Settle Question

A meeting of common council will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at which time a tax rate for the city will be determined upon. The finance committee at a meeting of council last Tuesday night recommended a $2.30 rate on the $100 assessed valuation and this report was defeated. Previous to that meeting of the committee had recommended a rate of $2.50 on the $100 assessed valuation and this also was defeated. Those opposed to an increase desire that the prevailing rate of $2 stand until next year when it is believed that the increase assessment will make up any deficit that the city now may be facing.

JURY BLAMES BOY

Careless Driving of Alfred Broaddus Responsible for Glen Allen Tragedy

Richmond, April 20.—Blame for the Glen Allen tragedy Sunday night, which claimed four young victims was placed on the driver of the car, Alfred Broaddus, 17 year old son of Dr. W. E. Broaddus, by the coroner's jury which held an inquest over the four bodies yesterday afternoon in the Bennett undertaking parlors.

After making the formal report to Coroner J. Fulmer Bright on the injuries from which each of the young women died, the jury summed up responsibility for the accident as follows.

"The accident was the result of carelessness on the part of the automobile driver, Alfred Broaddus."

The deceased had been in failing health for about a year, although his condition did not become critical until a few days ago.

Dr. Cox was born in Alexandria and received his early education in the public schools in this city and afterward attended William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va. The deceased then took up the study of medicine and graduated from Tulane University, New Orleans in June, 1918.

Following his graduation he accepted a position as physician with the Illinois Central Railroad Company and was connected with that company's hospital in New Orleans. Dr. Cox's health however, began to fail and he returned to Alexandria about a year ago.

The deceased was a member of old Bruton Episcopal Church, Williamsburg, Va., and was also a member of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons of this city and the Bachelor Club, this city. Dr. Cox was a fraternity man, being identified with the Phi Beta Pi, a medical fraternity, and the Pi Kappa Alpha a college fraternity.

His funeral will take place at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the residence of his parents, and services will be conducted by Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcipal Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The interment will be private.

ALLIES MAY EMPLOY FORCE ON GERMANS

France Insists Severe Measures Alone Will Move Berlin

DEMANDS OBEDIENCE

Britsih and French Premiers Lean Toward Economic Pressure as Means to Bring About Conformity

San Remo, April 20.—Premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy in consultation here on enforcing execution of the treaty were agreed without a moment's discussion that Germany should be told in positive manner that she must observe the Treaty; that the Allies were firmly united upon this and that she should be warned of punitive consequences should she refuse or fail to observe the Treaty.

Premier Lloyd George suggested economic pressure, depriving Germany of food, raw materials and intercourse with the Allied countries.

Premier Millerand is said to have contended such pressure, without naval or military aid, would in effect be no pressure at all. He declared it would be another "make believe" and that Germany could conduct her economic business through neutral countries. The only pressure that woud be effective, he asserted, would be force.

Premier Lloyd George, it is said, resisted this conclusion, and Premier Nitti inclined towards the British Prime Minister's view.

A compromise may take the form of an ultimatum to Germany with the threat of applying effective

OLD FORD RACER FOUND

"999" Beat Mile a Minute Record in 1904

Ford Racer "999" which in 1903-04 started the Ford reputation toward success by beating the "mile a minute" record in the hands of Barney Oldfield and Henry Ford, himself, was recently discovered and bought by W. L. Hughson, Ford Dealer in San Francisco. The car was cleaned up, shined and insured for $25,000, and sent on an exhibition tour. It was shown at the San Francisco Automobile Show and proved to be a great attraction.

This car made its debut in 1904 when Henry Ford drove it to success at a speed of one mile in 39 1-5 seconds on an ice track built on Baltimore Bay. The "Ford Times" of July 1904 referring to "999" says, "It won race after race in every part of the country. Its performance was a real sensation, not only here but abroad, and did as much to make known the name of Ford as any other circumstance."

This same article, after boasting of the 20,000 Ford owners—there are now more than 3,000,000—Goes on to tell why racing was discontinued: "In the early days of the industry racing undoubtedly stimulated business and was of benefit as a trade bringer for a new product. Today it is unnecessary to engage in races and stunts to awaken interest—the interest is wide awake and the problem is how best to provide for that interest which a growing demand for cars evidences. There was a time though, when no entry list was considered complete until the Ford entry was in, and the records of these four and five years ago are replete with triumphs of Ford cars, guided to victory by such experts as Henry Ford, Frank Kulick and by Barney Oldfield."

FREE TRADE FROM GRIP

Supreme Court's Decision Stops Interference by Congress With American Business

Washington, April 20.—The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia ruled yesterday that the Federal Trade Commission was without authority to enforce its order requiring monthly reports of production costs from coal mine companies and other industries.

In granting the application of the Maynard Coal Company, of Kentucky & Ohio, for an injunction to restrain the commission from proceeding to collect a penalty of $100 a day for every day failure to report, Justice Bailey declared that the powers the commission sought were "vast and unprecedented," and beyond the province of Congress to convey.

WINS APPLAUSE IN HOUSE

Representative Upshaw, of Georgia, First to Don Suit of Denim

Washington, April 20.—The "overall movement" has extended to Congress.

Representative Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, appeared on the floor of the House Saturday afternoon clad in the blue denim garments rapidly becoming popular in the fight against the high cost of clothing. Business before the House was held up while both sides vigorously applauded the Georgian, and the galleries joined in the demonstration.

"The man in overalls" continued the center of attraction until he was forced to make a speech. He said:

"A man in overalls always has been my hero. I have received a telegram from Atlanta stating that a club of 4,000 members has been organized with the purpose of joining hands to combat the high cost of living by wearing overalls.

"Naturally I would not indorse such a movement without practicing what I preached, so I went downtown and paid $4 for this blue attire.

"I urge all members of Congress to join this eminently sane and sensible movement and wear overalls or old clothes. I propose to organize such a club in Congress and several members have assured me that they will follow my example."

But how are other members to join this movement when it takes $4 to buy a pair of overalls?" asked Representative Gallivan, of Massachusetts.

"Well, if the gentleman hasn't got $4 I'll be glad to go on his note, so he can join the overall movement," replied Mr. Upshaw.

CHURCH DODGER SHOT

Constable, Enforcing Blue Law at Tangier, Va., Wounds Youth

Tangier, Va., April 20.—Roland Parks, 17 years old, who was shot and wounded by Constable Charles Connorton in the front yard of his father's home, on Tangier Island, on Sunday last, is in serious condition at the General and Marine Hospital at Crisfield.

The shooting has caused considerable excitement among the residents of the island town, and feeling over the shooting runs high.

The shooting was the result of a unique town law which was passed recently by the local officials of Tangier which provides no person may sit on a porch or stand on a street in Tangier on Sunday during church services. They must either go to church or remain in their homes.

On Sunday afternoon last the boy, a son of H. P. Parks, walked from his home to his brother's store, and took a seat on the porch. While talking to other boys. Constable Connorton appeared and demanded that he go to church. Parks demurred, but left the store porch and started walking to his home, the constable following.

When he reached his home he took a seat on his father's porch. The constable demanded that he enter the house, and when Parks refused, Constable Connorton seized the youth. Following a struggle in which the boy was about to get away from his captor, the officer drew his revolver and pulled the trigger.

The bullet passed through the boy's body and came out through his back. The boy was rushed aboard a power boat and taken to Crisfield.

Following the shooting a delegation of citizens appeared before the mayor and demanded the arrest of Constable Connorton. The officer went to Accomac Court House, Va., and surrendered. He was held under heavy bail to await the outcome of his victim's wound.

SHOT BY NEGROES

North Carolina Officers Return Fire of Gamblers, Killing Three

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 20.—Ex-Sheriff Lee Joyce was killed, Jim Matthews, special deputy, was shot through the neck, probably fatally wounded, and three negroes were killed last night in a fight between officers and negroes at Walnut Cove, fifteen miles from this city.

According to reports received here, the officers attempted to break up a card game, said to have been in progress in a restaurant operated by Nick Hairston, a negro.

When the officers entered the restaurant the negroes, according to the report received here by the police, began shooting. Ex-Shriff Joyce is said to have been killed immediately and in addition to the neck wound, Matthews was badly beaten. Feeling at Walnut Cove is running high, according to reports.

Rain has never been known to fall between the two lower falls of the Nile.

One gallon of paint should be distributed over an area of 800 square feet.

SAYS U. S. COAL EXPORTS WILL NOT STINT US

America Could Well Afford to Export Even Greater Tonnage, Asserts Official.

WORLD-WIDE SHORTAGE OF 62,000,000 TONS, HE SAYS

"All Europe Demanding Coal; We Are Not Injuring Home Consumers in Satisfying It," Declares Witness.

Washington.—(Special.)—American coal producers, seeking to relieve a world-wide shortage, are not sending coal abroad in sufficient volume to deprive the American consumer, in the opinion of H. Y. Saint, head of the shipping board's export department, a witness before the senate sub-committee conducting an inquiry into the coal situation, headed by Senator Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey.

Mr. Saint submitted to the committee the shipping board's official estimate of the extent of the world-wide coal shortage, totalling 62,463,000 tons, most of which, it made up, he said, "presumably must be made up by the United States." Exclusive of shipments to Canada, the United States is exporting coal, he said, at the rate of about 7,000,000 tons a year. This is a little more than 1 per cent of the total amount of bituminous coal produced in the country for a year.

According to Mr. Saint's figures Canada will need about 16,853,000 tons; France, 17,000,000 tons; Belgium, 12,000,000 tons; which may be reduced later as Belgium is rapidly restoring her mines; the Netherlands, 8,000,000 tons; China, 3,135,000 tons; Italy, 5,000,000 tons; Sweden, Norway and other countries many millions more. To help supply the needs of these and other countries, Mr. Saint stated, the shipping board has allocated the coal trade 194 American ships of 929,684 deadweight tons as follows:

In the Swedish trade, 85,111 tons; to Switzerland and the Netherlands, 235,633 tons; to Denmark, 7000 tons; Italy, 105,503 tons; France, 138,380 tons; South America, 207,512 tons. There was included in these figures, he said 103,661 tons in the coastwise or New England trade, which would have to be deducted from the total tonnage, leaving approximately 828,000 tons engaged in the oversees transportation of coal.

These figures represented only shipping board vessels, he said, or about 20 per cent of the total.

"The export coal trade so far this year," Mr. Saint said, "is running a little behind the export trade of last year, owing to the dropping down of the Canadian trade. But the foreign trade has increased over last year. By the time this year is up we will have exported, I think, about seven million tons."

"So great was the dearth of coal abroad," Mr. Saint asserted, "the demand has come from practically every European country, including the British Isles, heretofore the chief coal exporting nation of the world. England's inability to produce coal in pre-war quantities, he thought, was primarily responsible for the increased demand on the bituminous coal producers of the United States.

"Here exports have dropped from 77,000,000 tons of coal a year," he said, "to 23,000,000 tons. It was the understanding that England was to take care of the Italian situation. I believe that conclusion was reached in Paris during the economic conference there. But England has radically failed to take care of the Italian situation. Italian imports of coal before the war were 10,000,000 tons annually. Last year England sent Italy 4,000,000 tons and this year, up to date, she is doing very little better. This leaves from 5,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons to be supplied Italy by other nations and we are practically the only nation that can supply her that coal."

"Are we relieving England at our expense?" Senator Frelinghuysen asked.

"If you mean expense in the sense of taking coal that should go to our own people," replied Mr. Saint, "I do not believe that sufficient coal is going abroad to particularly injure our domestic situation. If you look at our foreign shipments as a development of a legitimate foreign trade, which will mean a very great deal to this country in future years, I think we can well send what we are sending now, and considerably more, abroad at this time."

Mr. Saint said that "We are trying to distribute our tonnage equitably among the countries that need coal."

YESTERDAY'S ACCIDENT

The collision between the Reliance and Relief apparatus at the intersection of King and St Asaph streets giving an alarm of fire shortly after noon yesterday could have resulted more seriously. In fact it seems miraculous that the men in charge of the colliding pieces of the fire department escaped serious injury. They have much for which to be thankful.

In this connection it may be stated that certain persons in this city have gone to "monkey" with the fire department by calling it out when there is no real necessity. The alarm yesterday was caused by the ignition of an oil stove which had been placed in a yard to burn out. While the occupants of the house may have had cause for anxiety, it may be said in many instances the city is convulsed by calls to hurry to this and that place where a chimney may be burning on a rainy day, or where a pile of rubbish is smoking. In some cases as was reported last week, no semblance of fire could be discerned at a house to which the department had been summoned.

We are not called to sit in judgment upon the cause of yesterday's accident, but that there are not more such mishaps is a wonder to most citizens. It is a mooted question whether it is necessary to make the record run often in evidence when an alarm is sent in. The speed of autos is limited by law to twelve miles an hour, but in cases of fire the apparatus is allowed to run twenty-five miles. That this rate is often exceeded greatly is a well known fact.

As we have said on other occasions, we are proud of our fire department, but we do not desire to see a member killed or injured, especially while in the discharge of his duty. One of the saddest chapters in our history describes the snuffing out of the lives of seven of our citizens while at work at a fire nearly twenty years ago. We hope the present generation will be careful and not bring about another such awful tragedy.

THE STAFF OF LIFE

As will be seen elsewhere, the Bakers' Union of Washington is about to demand one dollar an hour and shorter hours.

Of course, the consumer will be obliged to pay more for bread should the demands of the bakers be granted, and the matter will prove of interest to every Alexandrian.

Most of the bread furnished residents of this city and neighborhood is made by companies located in the national city, and should they be compelled to meet the demands of their workmen, prices will surely be advanced on all their products.

These out of town bakeries during the past quarter of a century have driven out the local bakeries, and their products are of a different class from that furnished in the good old times which have passed away forever.

In the olden time probably a dozen bakeries flourished in Alexandria, whose loaves fresh and smoking were delivered over the counter or delivered in wagons at our doors. It is not so now, the bread, most of which is baked the previous afternoon and placed in stores in front of grocery stores in the early hours, appears on our breakfast tables.

The older Alexandrians will recall the bakeries of other days and the satisfactory nature of their products. We cannot recall all, but we do remember the names of John Churchill, William H. Baggett, Samuel Baggett, William Hammerdinger, Michael Germann, Michael Bossart, Henry Bauer, William Wolf, Philip Helgesang Creighton, Wenzell, Peters Pipenbring Richards, and others, who have left no successors, made the old-fashioned "Irish" loaves. That they were called, and single and double storied "twists" will be remembered by many as the staff of life of their younger days and which would be all now could they be procured.

A WORD FOR LABOR UNIONS

In recent years when strikes, causing much inconvenience to the country, have become chronic, many persons have formed an aversion to all labor organizations. They are inclined to group such with I. W. Ws. and outlaw organizations which often seem to be devoid of souls. This should not be, as the following from a contemporary shows:

It will be recalled that a couple of weeks ago a cyclonic storm swept through the Middle West, destroying thousands of buildings, killing some 65 people and injuring many hundreds. Melrose Park, which is a suburb of Chicago, composed of small frame cottages, was one of the communities worst hit by the storm. Scores of its little homes were unroofed and blown to pieces. Heads of some families were killed and their other members carried off, badly injured, to the hospitals.

Saturday noon, when the short working week, of which some complain, was over, no less than 1,500 union carpenters of Chicago mobilized and marched in a solid column out into the ruined suburbs. The procession was headed by business agents and other union officials. Its members carried with them their hammers, saws and other tools. All Saturday afternoon and from sunup on Sunday to sundown on Sunday the 1,500 experts worked like mad on the rebuilding of the ruined homes of Melrose Park. There was no question of wages or working hours involved. Every man gave the best that was in him, freely and without price.

All day Sunday the sound of hammer and saw filled the air with its unselfish paean. All day great crowds of people stood in the streets of the village and cheered the volunteer workers. When the sun rose Sunday morning the house, from the ruins of which William Selk had been taken out dead, lay level with the ground. Just seven hours and fifteen minutes later it stood whole again, rebuilt and complete, and the Stars and Stripes floated from the gable end. The fatherless family had again a roof over their heads. Surely that was a work worthy of the day!

Before nightfall on Sunday that busy regiment of union carpenters had changed Melrose Park from a region of ruin and desolation into a suburb of trim and well built homes. After which they ate a sort of house warming supper with the restored residents, wished them the best of luck, and went back to the city to get ready for their regular jobs.

The Red Sea and the Mediterranean are the saltiest of all seas.

PRATT FLAYS SIMS

Assistant Chief Says Admiral Was Very Insistent

Washington, April 20.—Had Rear-Admiral Sims confined himself to simpler statements and repeated himself less in dispatches to the Navy Department more of his recommendations would have been accepted, Capt. W. B. Pratt, assistant chief of naval operations during the war, testified yesterday before the Senate committee investigating the Sims-Daniels row.

Captain Pratt said Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson wartime chief of operations, had entire confidence in Sims, but he declared there was "a marked difference between having the fullest confidence in an officer and giving over to that officer the complete power to make ultimate decisions beyond the scope of those he ought legitimately to make."

Taking up Sims' charge that the Navy Department prolonged the war by failing to send all available anti-submarine craft to the war zone immediately after war was declared, Captain Pratt said Admiral Sims did not realize conditions on this side and the complex problems the department faced.

The Navy Department followed one policy, from the beginning to the end of the war, Captain Pratt said, and this policy was promulgated in writing over Secretary Daniels' signature in July, 1917.

"The British had been at war for three years when our naval policy was drafted," the witness said, "but our policy arrived in London before the British policy was finally approved.

"Failure to get into the war immediately in full force was not the fault of operations or failure to recognize the character of the war, but was, for the most part, due to natural causes which antedated our entry into the war."

Captain Pratt said there was excellent co-operation between the Navy Department and the Allied Admiralties throughout the war.

Prosecution of the war abroad was never subordinated to protection of home coasts, he declared, and even when German submarines reached the Atlantic Coast in 1918 the department did not swerve from its policy.

The witness said it was true that Sims was not furnished with an adequate staff immediately after the war started, but all branches of the service were handicapped because of a shortage of experienced officers.

"In proportion to the forces under him Admiral Sims had more trained officers and men than the rest of the navy," Pratt declared. "Everybody wanted to go with Sims where the fighting and glory were to be had, and none wanted to stay at home with the drudgery."

Nippon Has Its Salvation Lassies, Too

East may be East and West may be West, but the twain meet under the colors of the Salvation Army.

Here one sees evidence of the Army's labors in the "Cherry Blossom" land of Japan. The color of the skin or the slant of the eyes of these Salvation Army officers makes no difference in their purpose and endeavor. The men wear the same uniform as their western brothers, but the women have adapted the Army's garb to the kimono robes of their native land.

The pictures give testimony to the work of the Salvation Army in but one of the 66 countries in which that organization has its posts, and Japanese is only one of 40 languages spoken by those who wear the uniform in these scattered lands.

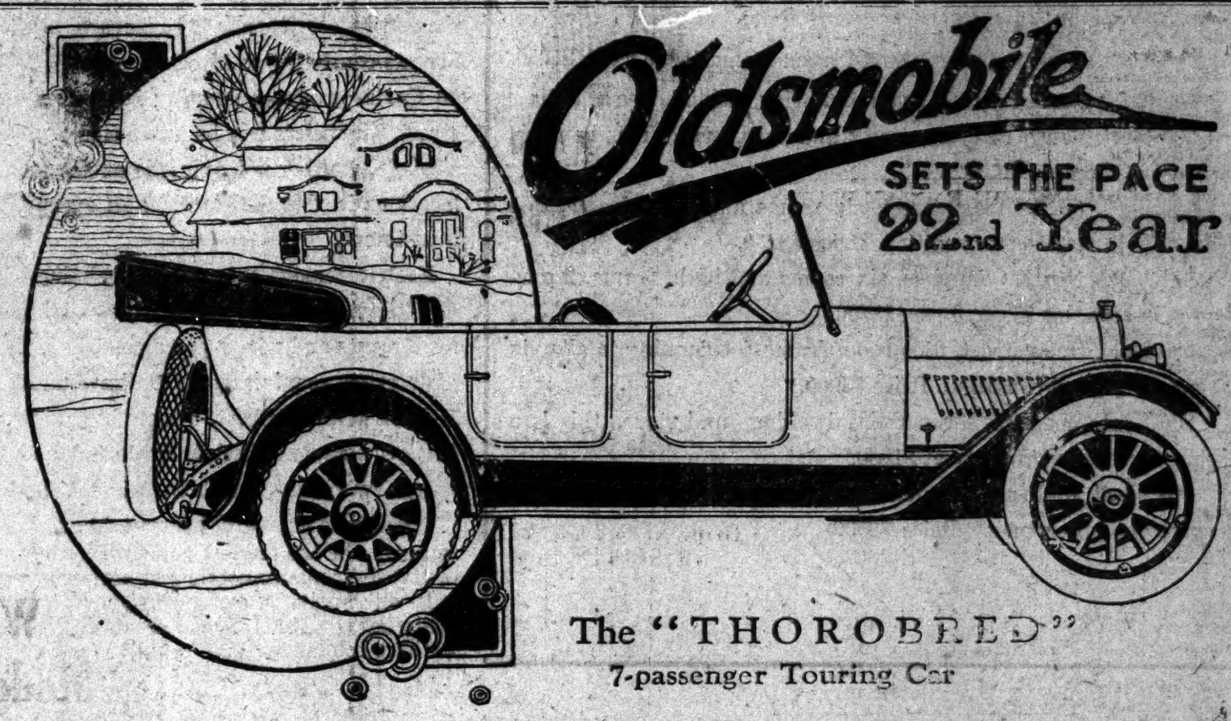
Oldsmobile
SETS THE PACE
22nd Year



The "THOROBRED"
7-passenger Touring Car

THE trend of automobile engineering points to the 8-cylinder car. And good buying judgment points to Oldsmobile.

We aimed higher than simply pioneering the "eight." We aimed to produce one of moderate price and low maintenance costs, —that had the flexibility, smoothness and abundance of power inherent in the 8-cylinder car.

—that cost as little to buy and operate as the majority of "sixes" and many "fours."

—that would be smartly distinctive, yet characteristically Oldsmobile.

Our aim is attained in the "THOROBRED"—the only popular priced "eight" in which mechanical excellence is combined with rare riding comfort and up-to-the-minute body lines. Oldsmobiles have been the history-makers of motordom; the "THOROBRED" is well worthy to perpetuate the name.

Descriptive literature will be sent upon request, or a demonstration gladly arranged.

You Don't Need to Sicken, Gripe, or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.

SECOND DISTRICT FIGHT

Three Candidates for Holland's Seat in Field—G. O. P. Meet in Portsmouth Thursday

Richmond, April 20.—With three candidates already in the field, the campaign for nomination of a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Second District to succeed Representative E. E. Holland promises considerable interest," said Henry Bowden, attorney, of Norfolk, who has been here in attendance on the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

The candidates already in the field are J. W. Kendrick, secretary to Representative Holland; State Senator J. T. Deal, of Norfolk, and former State Senator J. A. Lesnes, Mr. Lesner is at present postmaster at Norfolk and also is president of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and the Tidewater Automobile Association.

Park Deans, delegate in the General Assembly from Isle of Wight county, indicated some time ago that he probably would make the race, but has made no definite announcement.

Republicans of the district will hold a convention at Portsmouth, April 22, for the purpose of nominating a candidate. Several Republicans of the district are being discussed, and it is considered quite certain that a strong man will be placed in the field, and that an aggressive campaign will be made for his election.

PRESENT DAY CRIMINALS

"Kid" More Fitting Sobriquet for Malefactors Nowadays, Says Noted Judge

New York, April 20.—Boys whose ages range from 16 to 22 years compose the criminal classes with which this country's courts of justice have to deal today. A generation ago malefactors usually were designated as "old" or "big" somebody; nowadays "kid" is a more fitting sobriquet.

The number of candidates for penal institutions is increasing by thousands every year. And after a certain period—they say, the very early twenties, they never reform.

Some of them are mental defectives, some subnormal, some abnormal; some are just weak; others are thoroughly bad. And some are victims of circumstances who might be saved.

"Until these classes are separated by drastic legislative measure this element will remain just what it is today; the greatest evil which ever has menaced the progress and future of the United States."

These statements were made by Chief Magistrate William Gibbs McAdoo, of this city, noted authority on social and home conditions.

Judge McAdoo declared the criminal class is the product of the gangster youth, who, in turn, grows out of the boy loafer. These are some of the reasons given for his existence:

Decrease of home life.

Lessening of religious influence.

Rapid Americanization of children as opposed to slower progress of foreign parents.

Mob psychology in emulating vicious companions.

Weakness of mothers, sisters and wives to furnishing homes to idle male relatives.

Depraved social condition which makes earnings of unfortunate women available.

In any and all cases, according to Judge McAdoo, the potential criminal is the idle youth.

"If one has any doubt, let him consider, during working hours in the middle of the week and in all weathers the long line of well dressed, well fed, able bodied young men waiting for admission to moving picture theaters.

"They are a sample, most of these men, of those who have made up their minds not to work at any kind of labor. They have cast off all responsibility as sons, brothers and husbands; they live on their relatives or they live from the earnings of unfortunate women.

"They swindle, steal, rob, gamble or tout for gamblers. They become murderers or desperate gangsters in continual warfare with society and organized law and order.

Judge McAdoo mentioned the dire strait of this city during the heavy snowfall of the winter, when a dollar an hour was offered laborers to remove the snow.

"I saw idlers standing at the curb, looking on, their heaviest work that of striking matches to keep cigarettes alight," he said with fine scorn.

He took up the matter of cause.

"There is so much moving about in cities today—high rentals and other reasons keep families in constant transit. City dwellers of today are a race of metropolitan gipsies; they have no homes. Children have no playgrounds but streets consequently there is no permanency no family cohesion; boys are driven out with the corner gang for society. The deplorable reason for it all is the rush for cities. With the population centered over a small area, individuals are subject to the mental and physical ills of humanity in the mass."

Back of Every Fortune Lies an Early Foundation of Thrift

Thrift implies saving, just making a rational consistent effort to obtain full value for every dollar that passes through one's hands. The real thrifty person will not only secure the utmost for money expended but they will also keep their expenditures within their income. They will make an effort to have an ever increasing surplus for a day of need or opportunity. This city is an ideal place for a thrifty person in which to live. They not only can secure good salaries as the result of their efforts, but investments return good dividends as well. This city offers every inducement to the man or woman who desires to get ahead and is willing to follow the path of thrift.

The One Who is Planning for the Future Will Unite Thrift Thought With Thrift Action and Will Realize the Importance of Making Every Dollar Count

This city has a most creditable line of business places. It is not a difficult matter to find merchandise of any character. Thus one's needs can be supplied, practically in every way, without going outside of the limits of our own trading centers.

Much could be said regarding the high quality of the varied stocks offered for sale by the merchants in this city. An inspection will show that the merchandise offered is of the standard carried by the stores in the largest cities.

Our merchants, as a whole, are men of great experience, and who have been in business in this city for many years. They have given careful study to the needs of our people, with the result that the stocks offered are such that they will suit the requirements of those who trade with them in every way and are so well selected that no difficulty is found in pleasing those who are at all reasonable in their demands.

The merchants know that good merchandise, in fact, goods of the highest quality is demanded and no effort is made to force the buying of cheap and inferior goods. No sliding scale of prices are used and what one pays is the price asked all others. Misrepresentation of any nature is not tolerated by those merchants who make up the business interests of this city.

The Thrifty Person Will Have a Surplus and will not have same laying about the house or carry same carelessly around with them.

This surplus, be it large or small, will be well safe-guarded. It will also be placed where it can be added to from time to time and where it will also earn a rate of interest that will cause the principal to grow by reason of the interest earned. The person who is thrifty and who wishes a can be well taken care of in this city. Four banking institutions ,each one sound, safe and governed by a conservative, well-experienced, business-like officials, makes it possible to select a bank that will assure you of perfect safety for your savings.

Each bank invites the savings of small depositors in either its savings department or as a member of its money club.

The conservative policy under which each bank is conducted assures depositors perfect safety.

Those who wish a checking account, desire to purchase certificates of deposit or wish to make investments of any nature will find either of the banks glad to serve them in every way that is consistent with safe, modern banking.

If you desire banking accommodations of any kind, you will find a welcome for you at the bank you select.

Careful buying, reasonable overhead selling expense and a willingness to make a small profit are some of the reasons for the extreme reasonableness of the prices asked throughout the year. It is a recognized fact that the goods of the same quality that are sold here, cost considerably more in other cities.

Price comparisons are not fair unless quality, styles and desirability are also considered. As our local merchants do not carry job lots of inferior mechandise, prices on certain lines in other cities might look cheaper but when the quality is considered, it will be found that money will buy as much or more in this city as it will at any place.

The merchants are to be commended for offernig clean, up-to-date stocks at all times of the year. This is made possible by the policy of season end sales followed by nearly every merchant in this city. These sales are never used to unload undesirable merchandise but the merchants give the best that can be found during the sale periods, as well as at all other times of the year.

These sales are well patronized by the thrifty and as goods are offered for cost and even less, it pays them well to attend.

Even during the war period, and since, with the great difficulty experienced by the merchants in securing goods, these season-end sales have been continued, giving exceptional values. In fact, in some cases goods are offered at these sales at even lower than the before war prices.

Thrift Leads to Happiness. It is the Key to Success and Opens the Way to a Prosperous, Comfortable Old Age. Don't be Satisfied With the Consideration of This Matter But Take Definite Action

Join the Throng of Thrifty Ones Who Reside in This City and Vicinity

THEODORE N. VAIL BURIED

Parsippany, N. J., April 20.—Simplicity marked the funeral here yesterday of Theodore N. Vail, former head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in the little cemetery where his father, mother and ancestors are buried.

Interment was preceded by services at the old Presbyterian meeting house with the Rev. George C. Houghton, of "The Little Church Around the Corner," of New York, officiating. Dr. Houghton was for many years a close personal friend of Mr. Vail.

As a mark of respect for the former head of the great wire system, service on all Bell telephones in the country was suspended for a period of one minutes at 11 o'clock, Eastern standard time.

SCORES MODERN WEDDING

New Orleans, April 20.—Characterizing modern "evening or society weddings" as approaching "to the abomination of desolation," Most Rev. John W. Shaw, Archbishop of New Orleans, last night made public the text of a pastoral letter which will be read Sunday in all churches in this archdiocese.

Discussing society weddings, which he asserted, have supplanted the nuptial mass to a great degree, the archbishop said:

"To offset extravagant church decoration which serves merely to flatter the vanity of the bridal party and their relatives the choir must be lowered to the level of an ordinary theater orchestra to discourse suggestive operatic airs and a medley of trivial, sensuous music."

He concluded with a severe denunciation of church marriage rehearsals.

ON VERGE OF PANIC

The State Department yesterday could not confirm reports that Japan's finances were going to pot. Unofficial dispatches, however, indicated that the Japanese financial situation had become panicky.

The Japanese press for several weeks has been reflecting the nervousness of Japanese financial circles. The Chinese boycott of Japanese goods and Japan's military adventures in Siberia especially have exacted upon Japanese money markets. These and other factors have tended to dissipate the war profits stored up by Japan.

KING AS "DRUMMER"

London, April 20.—King Gustaf, of Sweden, is following the example of Albert of the Belgians by touring Europe as a "royal drummer." The Swedish monarch was in England privately during the past week bidding for Welsh coal and other commodities essential to his country. He is now en route for Paris, still on business.

"I am not asking for loans," King Gustaf is quoted as saying while here. "I am merely ensuing Sweden's claims for materials with which to build up her industries. In the present world scramble for supplies it is imperative that one keep on the lookout, and it is the duty of a King to serve his people."

Paris, April 20.—The Supreme Council has definitely decided to internationalize the Dardanelles, according to a Havas dispatch from San Remo. Allied contingents will be stationed in Constantinople so as to guard against Turkish rulers in the future leading their people astray and becoming again a danger for their neighbors and the Allies.

EXAMINE OUR GRADES WHEN CONSIDERING PRICES:

With prices on Lumber and other Building Materials at their present levels, there are many items in the lower grades which can often be substituted satisfactorily and at a considerable saving.

We have become so much impressed with the possibilities of doing this to advantage that we are exercising the greatest care in buying only from those mills who pay the closest attention to the manufacture and grading of their lower priced stocks.

We ask our customers to examine these grades when buying as we believe they will find some excellent values, and a knowledge of what a car[illegible]ally is will often [illegible] higher grade at [illegible] market price for the high grade, when it is actually a lower grade and can be bought as such.

NAVY BOXERS SHOW CLASS

The sailors have been interested in the manly art of self defense, and the editor of this page could fill it if he were to attempt to mention the champions of the world who have gained their training in the Navy. Tom Sharkey, Sailor Burke, Frank Moran, Gunboat Smith, and hundreds of other good boys might be mentioned.

The above picture shows a friendly set-to betwixt two youngsters at the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., where a number of good boys have been "turned out," as Paddy Partridge, the veteran trainer of Navy boxers, recently said.

TUCKER GAINS BACKERS

Candidate for Governor of Virginia Meets Success

Washington, April 19.—The candidacy of Henry St. George Tucker for Governor of Virginia, founded on the single line platform, "Back to the Constitution," has gained great head way in all sections of the State except Southwest Virginia, according to the information received by the Virginia political leaders in this city. Mr. Tucker's sole competitor, Lieutenant Governor Buchanan, is from Southwest Virginia, and that section remains loyal to its son.

Although the Gubernatorial primary is more than a year of, Mr. Tucker is even now campaigning actively. It is the fixed custom of candidates for high office in that state to announce early and campaign both early and late. Governor-Westmoreland Davis began his canvass nearly three years before the primary, and when Mr. Tucker ran the first time against Governor Mann he gave a year to the campaign.

As his strength is now indicated Mr. Tucker is a favorite in the Valley of Virginia, in Tidewater and in the Piedmont section of the State. He comes from the valley and represented a valley district in Congress many years ago, refusing to remain in the House, however, and swallow the free silverpolicy of his party at that time. His service as president of the Jamestown Exposition made him many powerful friends in the populous sections around Norfolk and Portsmouth.

The most valuable asset Mr. Tucker has at this time, according to both his friends and his opponents in his platform, places him on the liberal side of the prohibition question and upon the State's rights side of suffrage and other issues of that general character.

There has been a distinct reaction against drastic dryness in Virginia. That State, of its own accord, adopted a rigid prohibition policy and most Virginians were disposed to give the plan a thorough and fair trial as a purely State enactment. But they have revolted against constitutional prohibition and against the enforcement legislation enacted under the Eighteenth Amendment.

BAN ON LUXURY IMPORTS

Paris, April 20.—A new ban on luxuries from America and "other countries is about to be imposed by the French finance ministry. Silk stockings, pianos, automobiles and similar articles, classified as "de luxe" wares, are to be barred.

The recent boom in the American and British exports to France, tending to lower the exchange value of the franc, makes it necessary, it is explained.
